NOTES IN SEASON.

GINN, HEATH & Co. announce an American edition of Axel Gustafson's "The Foundation of Death," which in connection with the temperance question has attracted much attention abroad.

T. B. PETERSON & BROTHERS will issue, August 16, a cheap edition, in paper covers, at 75 cents, of Mrs. Emma D. E. N. Southworth's "Self-Raised; or, From the Depths," originally printed in weekly instalments in the New York Ledger, under the name of "Self-Made; or, Out of the Depths."

MACMILLAN & Co. have now ready the first two volumes of the new edition of Tennyson's complete works. There are two styles—one printed on hand-made paper and bound in a richly-gilt cover, the other printed on good substantial paper and bound uniform in style with Matthew Arnold's works.

GEORGE ROUTLEDGE & SONS have just ready two handsome guide-books by Augustus J. C. Hare, on Florence and Venice. The contents are divided according to localities, and contain, as the Evening Post says, "all of note that a man of taste would need to know in regard to the historic and artistic treasures of these cities."

CUPPLES, UPHAM & Co. have just issued a handsome edition of the poems of Herbert Woltcott Bowen, son of the proprietor of the New York Independent. They will publish at once as a companion volume to "Poems in Prose" a translation of Turgeneff's "Annouchka," one of the few works that he originally wrote in French, by Franklin Abbott.

D. APPLETON & Co. have published the second part of the third volume (concluding the work) of Roscoe's and Schorlemmer's "Treatise on Chemistry;" also a popular work on "The Electric Light: its history, production and applications," by Em. Algrave and J. Boulard, translated from the French by T. O'Connor Sloane, and edited with notes and additions by C. M. Lungren.

LEE & SHEPARD have just ready "The Development Theory: the Study of Evolution simplified for General Readers," by Joseph T. Bergen, Jr., with illustrations; "1000 Blunders in English: a Handbook of Suggestions in Reading and Speaking," by H. H. Ballard; and "John Thorne's Folks," by Miss Angeline Teele, of Kendallville, Ind., a new volume of fiction of decided power and merit.

BUSINESS NOTES.

ASTORIA, OR.—B. F. Stevens & Co., book-sellers and stationers, have dissolved partnership. H. D. Newbury, and J. Stevens continue the business.

FORT SMITH, ARK.—B. Glick having purchased the interest of Mr. Jenkins in the firm of Glick & Jenkins, will hereafter carry on the business under his own name.

GALENA, ILL.—Chas. E. Haile, trustee of the business of J. N. Waggoner, is offering to sell out the entire stock of books, stationery, etc.

NEW YORK CITY.—Clark W. Bryan & Co., of Holyoke, Mass., publishers of The Paper World, etc., have opened a branch office at Trinity Building, 111 Broadway, rooms 135 and 137, which will be in charge of Mr. D. H. Sackett.

NEW YORK CITY.—Charles M. Green, we learn from Bradstreet's, assigned July 23d to Edwin D. Simpson, giving preferences to George H. Morrill & Co. for $3150; Charles M. Green Printing Company $11,879. Liabilities about $100,000. Bad trade and pressure from outside were ascribed as the causes of his failure.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—The Dealer's Protective Association and Mercantile Agency of Philadelphia, with a capital stock of $20,000, were granted a charter for the formation of a company for the purpose of doing and transacting a printing and publishing business. The directors are E. H. F. Macdonald, P. S. P. Connor, and Herbert Brooks, of Philadelphia, and W. H. Kilvert, and L. Taylor of New York.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. A colon after initial designates the most usual given name as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (12mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tt. (32mo: 12¼ cm.); Fe. (48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obli., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

Allen, C. H. Life of "Chinese" Gordon. Toronto, W: Briggs, 1884. 26 p. O. pap., 5 c.

Anderson, E. L. Modern horsemanship: a new method of teaching riding and training by means of pictures from the life. Edinburgh, Scotland, D: Douglas. [N. Y., Brentano Bros.] 1884. 10+166 p. il. O. bds., $7.

A thorough treatise on riding and training. The author takes nothing for granted on the part of his readers, and therefore begins at the beginning of each subject. He conveys his information in a clear, concise manner. The most important feature of the volume is the series of 28 instantaneous photographs showing the various positions of rider and horse from the mount to the gallop.

Argyll, Duke of [G. D. Campbell] and George, H. Property in land: a passage at arms between the Duke of Argyll and Henry George. N. Y., Funk & Wagnalls, 1884. 4-77 p. D. pap., 15 c.

A reprint of "The Prophet of San Francisco," by the Duke of Argyll, from the Nineteenth Century for April, 1884, and of "The Reduction to Iniquity," by Henry George, from the same magazine for July. The literary reputation and the high social and political rank of the Duke of Argyll have attracted unusual attention to his arraignment of Mr. George's doctrine as to property in land. Mr. George's reply is vigorous and aggressive.

Besant, Walter. Dorothy Forster. N. Y., G: Munro [1884]. 283 p. S. (Seaside lib., pocket ed., no. 230) pap., 15 c.

Blaine and Logan. Biographies of Ja. G. Blaine and J. A. Logan, with description of the leading issues and the proceedings of the National Convention. [Also] History of the political parties of the U. S., comparisons of platforms on all important questions, and political tables for ready reference, by T. V. Cooper. Chic. and N. Y., Baird & Dillon [1884]. 313+94 p. O. por. cl., $2.

Bowen, Herbert Wolcott. Verses. Bost., Cupples, Upham & Co., 1884. 129 p., S. cl., $1.

An attractive binding, good paper, clear type and generous space make a handsome setting for Mr. Bowen's "Verses." They are almost all written in the minor key, and the "little god" has evidently hit the mark of Mr. Bowen's heart with a very poisoned arrow. These "Verses" give promise of more durable work. The translations of Goethe, Schiller, Heine, etc., are excellent.

Buel, J. W. and W. E. S. Whitman. The authorized pictorial lives of James Gillespie Blaine and John Alexander Logan [official ed.] N. Y., E. B. Treat, 1884. 3-502 p., steel por. and il. D. cl., $2.

"Comprises, as stated in the sub-title of the book, a description of the boyhood and early struggles of Blaine and Logan, their successive triumphs and splendid achievements in the nation's council halls, and amid the smoke and carnage of battle; grand qualities as civic and martial leaders, and eminent public services as statesmen, diplomats, etc.; with hundreds of authentic personal incidents, anecdotes and reminiscences, collected at their boyhood and present homes, and many of them never before published; also embracing a graphic account of the great convention of 1884, a synopsis of all previous national conventions, the famous nominating speeches of 1876 and 1880, with other political information invaluable to every voter."

Bump, Orlando Franklin. Law of patents, trade-marks, labels and copy-rights: consisting of the sections of the Revised Statutes, with notes to the decisions of the courts, with forms, 2d ed. Balt., Cushings & Bailey, 1884. 218+667 p. O. shp., $6.50.

Capel, Monsignor, D. D. Catholic: an essential and exclusive attribute of the true church, 4th ed. N. Y., D. & J. Sadlier & Co., 1884. 2-105+48 p. O. pap., 50 c.

The author holds that inasmuch as "Catholic" was decreed to be a key-note of the Christian Church fifteen hundred years ago by its teachers assembled in General Council, the "Protestant Episcopal Church" in the U. S. created in the year 1789 has no lawful claim to the name.

Cicero, Marcus Tullias. Stories of Roman history from Cicero, by G. E. Jeans and A. V. Jones. N. Y., Macmillan, 1884. 7+96 p. S. (Elementary classics) flex cl., net, 40 c.

Collins, C. H. Echoes from the Highland Hills. Cin., Peter G. Thomson, 1884. 157 p., S. cl., $1.25.

The "Highland Hills" are the surroundings of Hillsboro, Ohio, the home of the author. The verses, dealing with almost every available subject for poetry, were originally contributed to periodicals in various parts of the country, and are now collected and published by the author at the request of friends.

Colorado digest comprising the decisions of the supreme and federal courts of the State [1864-1884]; with tables of cases digested and cited, by R. S. Morrison. Denver, Col., Whipple & Pierson, 1884. 8+314 p. O. shp., $5.

Croil, Ja. The missionary problem: a history of Protestant missions in some of the principal fields of missionary enterprise with a historical and statistical account of the rise and progress of missionary societies in the 19th century. Toronto, W: Briggs, 1883. 5+224 p. map D. cl., $1.

A concise yet comprehensive sketch of the rise and progress of Protestant missionary effort in heathen countries, from an approximately undenominational standpoint.

De Bouret, Faber. Pilgrim faith maintained: an exhibit of the Calvinistic doctrine as found in vital theology. Bost., Ira Bradley & Co., 1884. 12° cl., 60 c.; paper, 30 c.

Deutsch, Solomon. Medical German: a manual designed to aid physicians in their intercourse with German patients, and in reading medical works and publications in the German language. N. Y., J. H. Vail & Co., 1884. 386 p. D. $2.25.

Dietzsch, Emil. Kraft und stoff aus der Geschichte des deutschen Volkes. Chic., Gustav Hinstorff, 48 Dearborn St., 1884. 197 p. D. cl., $1.25.

Recites in forcible blank verse the important epochs in the history of the German people—from the time, as the author has it,

Als zwischen Elbe noch und Rhein
Ur und Bär im Eichenhain
Waren frisch, fromm, froh und frei
Lustig an der Bummelci—

to the coronation of the Kaiser. The closing chapter of the volume contains miscellaneous verses under the general title of "Deutsche Klänge aus der neuen Welt."

* In this list, the titles generally are verbatim transcriptions (according to the rule of the American Library Association) from books received. Books not received are indicated by a prefixed asterisk, and this office cannot be held responsible for the correctness of their record. This list will be reprinted, verbatim, with all the notices of the books received, in the TRADE LIST ANNUAL.

Fuller, Andrew S. Practical forestry : a treatise on the propagation, planting and cultivation ; with a description, and the botanical and popular names of all the indigenous trees of the United States, both evergreen and deciduous ; with notes on a large number of the most valuable exotic species. N. Y., Orange Judd Co., 1884. 2-299 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.

"Many a time during my life have I felt the need of some one volume of moderate size, containing the names and descriptions, however brief the latter might be, of all the trees indigenous to the United States. Having waited in vain for the appearance of such a book, I have attempted to write one myself, with the hope that it will be of service not only to those who may desire to raise forest trees for pleasure or profit, but to others, who, like the author, may occasionally visit different parts of the country, and need some such guide, that will help them to call to mind the names, as well as to assist in identifying the different species of trees to be found in our forests. I have written it for those who are not supposed to have given the subject of forestry any special attention, and for this reason purposely avoided using any greater number of scientific and unfamiliar terms than was actually necessary in describing the various species and varieties."—Preface.

Hagerstown (The) town and country almanac, 1885 ; arranged after the system of the German calendars, containing the rising, setting, and eclipses of the sun and moon, etc., calculated by Lawrence J. Ibach. Hagerstown, Md., J. Gruber, [N. Y., News Co.,] 1884. 31 p. O. pap. 10 c.—Same, German edition, 32 p. O. pap. 10 c.

Hare, A. J. C. Florence. N. Y., G. Routledge & Sons, [1884]. 266 p. il. and map, D. cl., $1.

Hare, A. J. C. Venice. N. Y., G. Routledge & Sons, [1884]. 5+206 p. il. and map, D. cl., $1.

Though advertised as guide-books they are so only in a limited sense of the word : they are rather historical essays written in that attractive style characteristic of the author of "Walks in Rome," and guides incidentally to all that is noble and noteworthy in art and nature in these two venerable Italian cities. A full index and an outline map increase the usefulness of each volume.

Holloway, Laura C., comp. The home in poetry. N. Y., Funk & Wagnalls, 1884. 244 p. D (Standard lib., no. 14), cl., $1 ; pap., 25 c.

A collection of old favorite poems on home and kindred subjects. The selections have been made with discrimination, but evince the broad sympathy and vigilant industry of the accomplished raconteur. Euna Dean Proctor supplies a charming, original introductory poem entitled "The Homeless."

Horatius Flaccus, Quintus. Select epodes and ars poetica : edited for use of schools, by Rev. H. A. Dalton. N. Y., Macmillan, 1884. 92 p. S. (Elementary classics), S. flex. cl., net, 40 c.

Hughes, Archbishop. The works of the Most Rev. Archbishop Hughes. N. Y., Catholic Pub. Soc. Co., 1884. 1500 p. O. cl., $3.50.

Illinois Supreme Court. Advance sheets of the Illinois reports, v. 108 [1883-84,] by N. L. Freeman. Springfield [N. L. Freeman], 1884. 2+11-669 p. O. pap., $1.

Johnson, Virginia W. The Fainalls of Tipton. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1884. 4+482 p. S. cl., $1.25.

The brothers Sampson and Luke and their maiden sister Miss Lydia are the "Fainalls of Tipton," under which sobriquet is described the average New England village of some years ago. Mrs. Sampson and her daughter Ursula and Mrs. Luke and her son Walter are rather stirring elements in the Fainall family. Those who have read the "Neptune Vase" need not be told that Miss Johnson writes an excellent story. The plot is good, and in its working out refreshingly original. Character drawing is Miss Johnson's recognized forte and her pen sketches of the inventor, the checker-playing clergyman and druggist, the rising young doctor, the sentimental painter, the rival grocers, etc., etc., are quite up to her best work. Her good-natured humor and knowledge of human nature make the book enjoyable reading even for the professional critic.

Knickerbocker ready-reference guide to 1000 points around New York, covering all points within fifty miles of New York City, giving information, alphabetically arranged, as to railroads, time of trains, fares, steamboats, population, post-offices, times of closing of mails, express companies, telegraph-offices, stage and horse-car lines at each place : also, hack fares, livery and hotel accommodations, telephone connections, etc., and the latest official time-tables of all railroads within the territory. N. Y., National Railway Publication Office, 24 Bond St. 1884. 248 p. map, O. pap., 25 c. (Published monthly at $2.50 per annum).

"An effort has been made to exhibit the character of Oriental religious systems, to delineate some features of an uncivilized heathenism, to summarize missionary facts and results, and to urge an earnest plea for Protestant missions."—Preface.

Lawson, J. D. Leading cases simplified : A collection of leading cases in criminal law. St. Louis, F. H. Thomas & Co., 1884. 26+327 p. O. cl., $2.50 ; shp., $3.

"This, the first part of the work, embraces the most important period in our tariff history, because it was then that the United States, for the first and only time, made a practical trial of free trade. . . . The disastrous outcome of that experiment is set up in these pages as a solemn warning to the present and to the future."—Preface. Written from a protectionist standpoint.

Minnesota. General laws, passed during the 23d session of the legislature, Jan 2d-March 2d, 1883. St. Paul, J. W. Cunningham, 1883. 16+278+6+71 p. O. pap., $1.50.

Mother (The) and her children: a story for young mothers, by the author of "Glimpses of the celestial country." Phil., Presbyterian Bd. of Pub., [1884.] 156 p. T. cl., 60 c.

Written in the form of a diary by a mother whose work is done, and who is spending her last days in writing down the trials of her early life, that they may be a guide to young mothers. The little, wearing details of family life are most naturally pictured. Mothers, and children also, might learn to bear and forbear by carefully reading this little volume.

Nebraska. Laws, joint resolutions, and memorials, passed by the legislative assembly, at its 18th session, begun Jan. 2, 1883. Lincoln, Journal Co., 1883. 16+416 p. O. shp., $2.

New York. Supreme Court. Reports, with copious notes and ref. by E. B. Smith and E. Hitchcock. Book 9. cont.: Cowen's reports, v. 7-9, and Wendell's reports, v. 1. [1826-1829.] Newark, Wayne co., N. Y., The Lawyers' Co-operative Pub. Co., 1884. 2+1100 p. O. shp., $4.

Kansas and Missouri furnish the scene for this realistic love-story, dealing with the closing events of the Rebellion. The familiar hero of old novels, the gentlemanly highway robber and desperado is introduced and all the characters are made to suffer at his hands. The good are rewarded and the wicked punished in the orthodox manner of the first works of fiction read surreptitiously "many years ago."

Patterson, G. D. D. The heathen world; its need of the gospel and the Church's obligation to supply it. Toronto, W: Briggs, 1884. 4-293 p. D. cl., 70 c.

A description of the heathen countries and people, a review of the work done by the Christian Church in the missionary field, and an outline of the present duty of the Church in the direction of spreading the gospel among the benighted. This essay was awarded the prize of 100 guineas, offered for the best contribution on the subject.

Patton, J. Harris. The Democratic party: its political history and influence. N. Y., Fords, Howard & Hulbert, 1884. 2+349 p. S. cl., $1.

A vigorous exposition of the fallacies of the Democratic party. Though claimed to have been written in neither the interest or spirit of partisanship, the volume is evidently intended to serve as a campaign document in the interest of the Republican party.

Payne, Jos. Lectures on the science and art of education. N. Y., E. L. Kellogg & Co., 1884. 296 p. S. cl., $1.

Canada; with introduction. Toronto, Briggs, 1884. 7+332 p. D. cl., $1.25.

Twenty sermons by leading ministers of the United Methodist Church in Canada, with an introduction by the editor, Rev. S. G. Phillips. This forms the second volume of the series.

Porter, Rose. Foregleams of immortality, and an in memoriam. N. Y., A. D. F. Randolph & Co., [1884.] 5-168 p. S. cl., $1.25.

"It is only a little volume of comfort, lovingly inscribed to the sorrowful by one who sorrows—yet 'sorrows not without Hope.'"—Preface.

Raimund, Golo. A hard heart; from the German by S. H. Phil., J. B. Lippincott & Co., 1884. 243 p. D. cl., $1.25.

A German manufacturing village is the scene of this emotional German romance. The motive of the plot is the disputed proprietorship of a mill, the owner of which has been killed by the machinery before making his will. "Frau Sybilla," his wife, is an eccentric character, drawn with dramatic force. Her peculiar theories and her influence in her family form the interest of the book. The translation is smooth and evidently a labor of love.

Red-letter poems by English men and women. N. Y., T: Y. Crowell & Co., [1884.] 4+648 p. D. cl., $1.25.

In preparing this collection of English verse, it has been the aim of the compiler to include such poems as are acknowledged to be among the best works of authors here represented; and also to present, in one compact inexpensive volume, a popular handbook of English poetry, from the time of Chaucer to the present day. Among the works more frequently consulted, and from which numerous extracts have been made are the following: Ward's "English Poets," Palgrave's "Golden Treasury," Mackay's "Thousand and One Gems," Beeton's "Book of Poetry," "Living English Poets," and "English Poetesses." A number of poems by authors now living brings the volume down to the latest period. The biographical data are from "Johnson's cyclopædia," Ward's "English Poets," Allibone's "Dictionary of Authors," "Men of the Time" and other reliable sources.—Preface. An index of authors, contents and first lines, is given at the end of the volume. Forms one of the volumes of the Red-line Poets series.

Walford, L. B. The baby's grandmother: a novel. N. Y., H: Holt & Co., 1884. 431 p. S. (Leisure Hour ser., no. 158), cl., $1.

As the "Baby's Grandmother" the author of "Mr. Smith," "Cousins," "Troublesome Daughters," etc. introduces an English "county magnate" of thirty-seven, "endowed by heaven with beauty and talent enough to have satisfied a score of women if shared among them." The plot is simple, dealing only with the every-day life of the "grandmother," her lovers and brothers. She is a noble warm-hearted woman who after many years of widowhood truly loves a man who has almost forsaken her to marry money. The little glimpse of their married life when things are finally righted, is the gem of the story. The "conflicting, enchanting, puzzling characteristics" of the "baby's grandmother" are all controlled by love for her own baby's father. Few authors possess such insight into the peculiar differences of man's and woman's love. Has been running as serial in Blackwood's Magazine. The quotations at the headings of chapters are remarkably well chosen.

KATALOG DER OSTERMESS-AUSSTELLUNG DES BÖRSENVEREINS.

THE catalogue of the Easter Exhibition of the German Booksellers' Association at Leipzig, is a magnificent specimen of bookmaking, as well as a remarkable assemblage of specimens of work in the production of books. The book trade at the exhibition was represented by German, Austrian, English, American, French, Italian, Dutch, Swedish, and Russian works, the illustrative portions including photo-gravure, zincography, lichtdruck (photo-glass printing), oleography, and xylography, all of which processes are well represented in the catalogue before us. The catalogue is prefaced by a list of works printed in Holland, from the collection of Mr. H. Klemm, the tendency of which is to show that the invention of printing is more truly ascribed to the Low Countries than to Gutenberg. The Exhibition Catalogue begins with a list of contributors—A, published books and music; B, printing; C, maps and school material; D, lithography and chromo-lithography; E, paper-making, bookbinding, engraving; F, copper, steel-plate, etc., work, typefoundry and colors used in the illustration of books. Then follows, extending to 572 pages quarto, a most sumptuous array of examples in plain and colored typography, photography, colored plates, engravings combined with text, illustrated catalogue work, initial letters, colored, tinted and plain border work, printing on tinted paper, gold ornament combined with tint, etc., in borders; steel-plate, wood-engraving on the handsomest scale, etc. Appropriately bound in half-calf with an artistic embossed emblematic design on the front cover, this magnificent volume forms a durable memorial of the exhibition, which will be highly prized by its fortunate possessors, and in the future become a valuable work as representing the condition of the art of bookmaking at the date of its issue. In conclusion it should be stated that Felix Liebeskind, head of the publishing firm, was the moving spirit and editor of the work itself—in his case evidently a labor of love.

CHICAGO'S BOOK TRADE.

A HISTORY FROM 1834 OF THE BOOK MAKERS, SELLERS, AND PRINTERS.

RELIGIOUS BOOK-STORES.

WILLIAM G. HOLMES, a native of Scotland, came from Buffalo about 1857, and opened a religious book-store in the Garrett Block, where Central Music Hall now stands. He moved from there to Wells Street, between Lake and Randolph; then to No. 170 Clark Street in 1859 or 1860, and remained there until 1869, when he removed into the store of W. B. Keen & Co., vacated at No. 148 Lake Street. Having been burned out in the great fire of 1871, he reopened at No. 194 West Madison Street, and made his final move to No. 77 Madison Street. He died Dec. 20, 1880, and F. H. Revell, now Nos. 148 and 150 Madison Street, bought his stock.

Watson W. Brown, with Holmes from 1861 till 1879—save a short time when he was in the army—had an interest in the Holmes business, though his name did not appear in the firm; was an active manager for many years, and was known as one of the best-posted and most trustworthy book-men in the West. In 1879 he engaged in manufacturing stationery, as head of the firm of W. W. Brown & Co., now at No. 106 Madison Street. He is also the official publisher of the Chicago stock exchange.

Mitchell & Hathaway kept a church book-store in 1863, at No. 93 Washington Street, where they were burned out in 1871. The firm was next at No. 45 Clark Street, and at No. 158 State Street, went out of business in 1880, Mitchell transferring his interest and services to Jansen, McClurg & Co.

Street & Pierson kept an Episcopal book-store in 1865. They were succeeded by Street, Moore & Co., and then by Moore & Kelly. The house lasted about four years.

The Western Methodist Book Concern, established in Cincinnati, O., 1820, opened a branch house here at No. 63 Randolph Street, 1852. It afterward moved to No. 66 Washington Street, and was burned out there in 1871; thence moved temporarily to No. 36 South Clinton Street; May, 1872, to Nos. 24 and 26 Van Buren Street; November, 1873, moved into its own building, No. 57 Washington Street. The present agents, Earl Cranston and William P. Stowe—Cranston & Stowe—publish here The Northwestern Christian Advocate, the Sandebudet, a Swedish religious weekly, and a Sunday-school paper in that language. The books and Sunday-school periodical literature are published in Cincinnati. The branch here has a large trade through the Northwest, not only in Methodist books and periodicals, but carries a large stock of the leading publications of the country. It has also a German and Swedish book department.

The Western Unitarian headquarters for Sunday-school books are at No. 135 Wabash Avenue.

The American Tract Society, No. 139 Wabash Avenue, had a depository here in 1857. It was burned out at No. 68 Adams Street in 1871; went into a dwelling-house on Wabash Avenue, thence to No. 68 Adams Street, and to No. 139 Wabash Avenue in 1881. All the profits of the books sold are given away.

The Presbyterian Board of Publication, of Philadelphia, have a branch depository at No. 137 Wabash Avenue, for the sale of Presbyterian, religious, and theological books.

American Baptist Publication Society—Chicago branch of the present house, No. 1420 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia—began in 1868 in the Lombard Block, under the management of C. R. Blackall. It is now located at No. 151 Wabash Avenue. The manager is F. G. Thearle. The society publishes Baptist books and papers.

Of Catholic book-stores there has been a great brood of what might be termed parochial book-stores, almost every prominent parish having one for the sale of Catholic books and church goods, few of which were successful. There are quite a number of such book-stores here now, away from the business centre.

Charles McDonald kept the pioneer Catholic book-store of Chicago, at No. 27—now No. 33—Market Street, in 1840. He continued the business twenty-five years—till 1865—when he sold out his books at auction and retired from the business in good form.

J. Graham, now Graham & Sons, No. 113 South Desplaines Street, kept a Catholic book-store for a long time on the South side.

T. J. Finnegan, No. 66 Lake Street, and the Union Catholic Publishing Company, No. 82 Randolph Street, sell Catholic books and church goods. But there is no prominent exclusively English Catholic book-store here, the leading general book-stores keeping Catholic as well as Protestant books. The same remark, in a qualified degree—the Methodist Book Concern excepted—applies to the Protestant religious book-stores.

Michael J. Geraghty, No. 433 West Twelfth Street, dealer in Catholic books and religious articles, was an agent for school-books at No. 457 West Twelfth Street, from 1872 to 1879, and was then with Jansen, McClurg & Co., but afterward with F. S. Belden, and now begins on his own account.

Theodore Scholzen, No. 290 West Twelfth Street, began business on this street May 18, 1867, selling Catholic books.

SCHOOL BOOKS.

George Sherwood & Co., school-book publishers, Nos. 307 and 309 Wabash Avenue, deal exclusively in their own school-books, comprising spelling, reading, with the principal words in reform spelling type, writing, arithmetic, grammar, school songs, with piano accompaniment, and some high-school books. Their recently published Business Reader contains fine selections for reading, and rules for the business of life. Their Civil Government of Illinois, leading the pupil up through the school district, township, county, and State organizations, to the organic law of the State and the United States, should be in every school. It is the only Chicago house that publishes books for common schools. Their books have been approved by the ablest teachers, and have a wide circulation in the East as well as in the West.

BRANCH HOUSES.

The school-books of the country are chiefly supplied by eastern publishers, most of whom have branch houses to introduce their books to the northwest. Most of their books are sent direct from headquarters, and are not counted in the book trade of Chicago. The houses represented here, as branches, are:

D. Appleton & Co.; Ivison, Blakeman, Taylor & Co.; Harper & Brothers; Sheldon & Co.;

A. S. Barnes & Co., and Clark & Maynard, of New York; Porter & Coates, and Cowperthwait & Co., of Philadelphia; Ginn, Heath & Co., of Boston, and Van Antwerp, Bragg & Co., of Cincinnati, Samuel L. Hall, of New York, and L. Prang & Co., of Boston, art publishers.

S. A. Maxwell & Co., Nos. 134 and 136 Wabash Avenue, came from Bloomington in 1882. Their sales are one third books and two thirds wall-paper.

C. M. Barnes, Nos. 151 and 153 Wabash Avenue, has had a remarkable history. Beginning with a small stock of books, eight years ago, his dealings were so fair and satisfactory that customers, far and near, multiplied. His specialties are second-hand school-books. He also keeps shop-worn and new school-books. Nothing equals the growth of his business in the history of the book-trade of this country.

C. O. Perry began business as a travelling agent for Harper & Brothers, but in the summer of 1880 opened an office for himself at No. 205 Wabash Avenue. March, 1883, he moved to No. 109 Wabash Avenue. He handles both school and miscellaneous books, and has quite a library trade.

LAW BOOKS.

E. B. Myers—now E. B. Myers & Co., No. 121 Monroe Street—pioneer law bookseller, succeeded D. B. Cooke in 1860, at No. 111 Lake Street. He was at No. 91 Washington Street in 1867; after the fire, October 9, 1871, he opened at his residence, No. 1020—now No. 2249—Wabash Avenue; at No. 393 Wabash Avenue, March, 1873, and moved to his present store in 1879.

Callaghan & Co., law publishers, at No. 114 Monroe Street, was formerly Callaghan & Cutler, No. 126 Clark Street, May 1, 1864.

MEDICAL BOOK-STORES.

The general book-trade carry full lines of medical books; hence the field is not an inviting one for exclusively medical book-stores. Duncan Bros., No. 135 Wabash Avenue, keep a few homœopathic books, and William T. Keener, No. 96 Washington Street, has quite a good stock of medical books of the regulation pattern.

GERMAN BOOK-STORES.

Muhlbauer & Behrle, who own the oldest German book-store here, began business in 1870 at No. 45 North Clark Street. They removed to No. 149 North Clark Street, where they were burned out in 1871. They opened at once at No. 311 West Twelfth Street, and removed April, 1873, to their present store, No. 41 La Salle Street. They keep theological works, sermons, Bibles, "Lives of Saints," English, German, French, Polish, Bohemian, and Dutch prayer-books; church music, hymn-books, dictionaries, histories, Greek and Latin classics, original and translated, library books, school-books, and drawing-books. SCANDINAVIAN BOOK-STORES.

Engberg & Holmberg, publishers and importers of Swedish religious, educational, music, and miscellaneous books, began business in 1869 at No. 192 Superior Street, but soon moved to No. 139 North Clark Street. They were burned out in 1871, and opened at Nos. 65 and 67 Milwaukee Avenue. In January, 1872, they moved to No. 94 East Chicago Avenue, and in 1873 to their present quarters, No. 119 East Chicago Avenue. In 1874 they bought out the Lutheran Publication Society, which was twenty-five years old.

I. T. Relling & Co., import Norwegian, Danish, and Swedish books and periodicals. Mr. Relling began business alone in 1863 at No. 75 West Kinzie Street; moved in the spring of 1871 to No. 75 Milwaukee Avenue, and added "Co." to the firm. In 1873 they located where they now are, No. 226 Milwaukee Avenue.

Fritz Franzen, Norwegian and Danish bookseller, in 1870 was at No. 85 West Kinzie Street, but moved to No. 220 Milwaukee Avenue in 1876, and to No. 296 Milwaukee Avenue in February, 1884.

Antiquarian and second-hand book-stores keep old and second-hand books and books out of print—often very rare and valuable. This class is represented here by H. D. Chapin, Mrs. F. C. Miller, G. W. Parker and wife, W. B. Sizer, C. M. Beckwith, and O. R. Sprague.

Cobb's library, begun by Calvin Cobb in 1869, at No. 29 Washington Street, was burned out there in 1871, and opened at No. 473 Wabash Avenue. In 1874 it was under the Palmer House. Removed to present location, northwest corner of Wabash Avenue and Washington Street, in 1879.

GRAPHIC ARTS EXHIBITION.

THE Society of Graphic Arts of Vienna announces the forthcoming publication of a complete report on the International Exhibition of Graphic Arts held in that city last year. As it will contain accounts of other works meriting attention, although not exhibited, it will be entitled "Les Arts de Reproduction Contemporains." It will be an imperial quarto, issued in ten or twelve numbers, and the edition will consist of about 3000 impressions. The work will be chiefly made up of illustrations with explanatory text, and will be divided into two parts. The first will deal with the historical development of engraving on wood and copper, etching and lithography, with examples, biographical notices, and occasionally portraits, of contemporary masters in each division. The second part will be devoted to methods of reproduction, heliography, zincography, etc. This will also be richly illustrated, and will contain accounts of the various artistic establishments and their productions. Artists and others who may wish to be represented in the catalogue should address the director of the Société des Arts Graphiques, Schwarzschaner Haus, Vienna.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

THE current number of Trübner's Literary Record is accompanied by a memorial pamphlet containing various interesting newspaper notices of the famous publisher's death.

THE Magazine of American History for August, contains among others a touching and appreciative sketch of Charles Fenno Hoffman, by W. L. Keese, with a good portrait of the subject.

THE Southern Merchant and Journal of Trade and Commerce is the title of a new trade journal published at Baltimore, Md., devoted to advancing the commercial interests of that city.

MR. CLARENCE COOK, who was for many years the art critic for the New York Tribune, has taken editorial charge of the art journal, The Studio, the first issue of which under his direction has just been issued.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

THE Rev. E. P. Roe is writing for the Current a serial story entitled "An Original Belle." The opening chapters will be published in September.

MR. STIMSON, the author of "Guerndale," proposes to write three other novels, forming a complement to his "Crime of Henry Vane," the four illustrating phases of love in modern society.

FREDERICK KAPP, of Berlin, has been at work for several years on a history of the German book-trade (portions of which appeared in a German magazine), which he hopes to have ready for press this year.

GEORGE S. BOUTWELL, of Massachusetts, has in press a book entitled, "Why I am a Republican." It contains fourteen chapters, and discusses the various questions with which the party has been identified since its organization.

DR. DUNTZER, author of the recent life of Goethe, is making rapid progress with his annotated editions of German classics. He has just issued a second volume of Goethe's poems, and Lessing's "Minna von Barnhelm."

MR. ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON, who is recovering from his recent severe illness, has nearly ready for publication, "The Children's Garden," a book of poems. They are very short, some of only just a few lines, and they show a singular remembrance of the thoughts and feelings of childhood.

MISS MATHILDE BLIND (author of the biography of George Eliot and other works) has written a novel, which is to be published shortly by Fisher Unwin (London). It is entitled "Tarantella," and relates partly to the South Italian superstition as to the bite of the tarantula spider; the chief interest, however, is more of a passionate, and partly of an æsthetic (musical) kind.

NOTES AND QUERIES.

A CORRESPONDENT desires to know who publishes "Guide to Wealth and Pathway to Health, Peace and Competence," by W. Smead. It was originally published by E. Mendenhall (Cincinnati, 1856), and is said to be now issued in New York by a Mr. Watson. Can any of our readers furnish the address?

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

T. Y. CROWELL & Co. have just ready in their popular Red Line Poets series a new volume entitled "Red Letter Poems," comprising a compilation of standard poems from the time of Chaucer to the present day. They have in preparation for the holiday season a new illustrated edition of George Eliot's "Poems," which will have illustrations drawn especially for the work by Taylor, Schell, St. John Harper and others; a new edition of that time-honored classic, "Walton's Complete Angler," based on Mayo's edition, containing eighty-six illustrations; new and uniform editions of the complete works of Charles Dickens, Thackeray, Hawthorne, George Eliot and Bulwer-Lytton, and of the "Leather Stocking" and "Sea Tales" by James Fenimore Cooper, in their Library of Standard Fiction; also new editions of the "August Stories," the "June Stories," the "Dove Stories," "Georgey's Menagerie," and a new book by Faye Huntington called "What Fide Remembers." Warren Brown, a concise narrative of the principal events of the world's history, fully illustrated; "Poems for Christmas, Easter and New Years," by H. Butterworth, author of the "Zigzags," comprising verses appropriate for these festivals, enriched by many fine illustrations; a new and revised edition of "The Æneid of Virgil," translated into English blank verse, by John D. Champney, in which the girls extend their travels into the heart of South America, up the Amazon and across the Andes; "Six Girls," by Fannie Belle Irving, in illuminated board covers; "The Boys of '61, or Fours Years of Fighting," by Charles Carleton Coffin, in new chromo-lithograph covers and linings; "Our Little Ones and the Nursery, Illustrated Stories and Poems for Little Ones," edited by William T. Adams, ("Oliver Optic,") a most appropriate and beautiful illustrated annual for the youngsters; "Young Folks' History of Edinburgh," by Fred. H. Allen, containing 100 fine illustrations; "Young Folks' History of London, with Graphic Stories of its Historic Landmarks," by W. H. Rideing, containing 100 illustrations; "Young People's History of the Reformation in Germany, France, England, etc.," by Fred. H. Allen, giving accounts of the men, scenes, and incidents, which brought about the establishment of Protestantism, with 100 characteristic illustrations; "The Chatterbox for 1884," the authorized reprint from duplicate English plates which will contain a large amount of American copyright matter, in original stories, sketches, and poems, for the young, and contain over 200 illustrations, mostly full-page; "The Prize for 1884," a companion to the Chatterbox, for the youngest readers, will contain a great variety of sketches, poems, and pictures, of which 12 are original full-page colored plates; "Sunday Stories," by Rev. CHATTO & WINDUS, London, have in press "English Caricature and Satire under Napoleon I." It will be in two volumes, illustrated with 120 reproductions.

ELLIOT STOCK, London, has issued a neat reprint from the Bibliographer of Henry B. Wheatley's "Notes on the Life of John Payne Collier, with a complete list of his works, and an account of such Shakespeare documents as are believed to be spurious."

PROFESSOR SAYCE says that the late Nicholas Trübner has left behind him a MS. on the history of the book trade in the classical period, a subject in which he had been interested from his earliest boyhood. He had collected an enormous amount of material for the work, and from time to time spoke to his friends of publishing it as soon as he could finish it in accordance with the demands of a somewhat fastidious taste.

T. FISHER UNWIN, London, has issued a little volume of poems, original, and translations from Heine, by Ernest Radford, entitled "Measured Steps," which contains in great part a reprint of such of Mr. Radford's original verses and translations as were issued about two years since by another publisher. Mr. Radford's original verses are, as the London Academy truly says, "in fact as well as in name, 'original';" and his translations from the most un-German of Germans [Heine] retain what most translations lack—the spirit of the master."

W. JOHN STONHILL, Imperial Buildings, Ludgate Circus, London, has just issued an "A B C Paper Mill Guide for Great Britain and Europe," which contains in convenient shape, alphabetical lists of English, Scotch, and Irish paper makers, classified lists of makes of English Scotch, and Irish mills, numerical index of Irish mills, titles of mills in England and Wales and of Scotch and Irish mills, names and mill numbers, mills without numbers, names of second partners, paper mills in each county, registered water marks and titles, mill depots in London, agents for paper mills and the mills they represent, and mills and makes of France and of the German empire.

HENNINGER BROTHERS, of Heilbronn, deserve the thanks, as we hope they have the liberal encouragement of all students and lovers of old-English literature, for their scholarly and well-edited issues in the Altenglische Bibliothek, edited by Eugen Kölbing, and in the Englische Sprach-und Literaturdenkmale des 16. 17. und 18. Jahrhunderts, edited by Karl Vollmöller. In the former they have recently published "Osbern Kokenam's Legenden," edited by C. Horstmann, and in the latter they have ready "Gorboduc or Ferrex and Porrex, a tragedy by Thomas Norton and Thomas Sackville, A. D., 1561," edited by L. Toulmin Smith. In the latter series they will shortly publish Marlowe's "Tamburlaine."
